

reclaiming the value of employee benefits.

How Albright College partnered with Revive to reduce healthcare costs, unlock access for employees, and restore confidence in their benefits program.

from cuts to confidence

After years of slashing benefit value to manage rising healthcare costs, Albright College found itself with a demoralized workforce and few options left. By partnering with Revive, the college reversed course, cutting pharmacy claims by 18% in just four months, empowering employees with truly free care, and beginning to reinvest savings into better healthcare coverage.

"We're using Revive savings to fund richer benefits—lower deductibles, better plan designs, and even wellness programs that were once out of reach."

— Erin Laudenslager
Human Resources Manager

BEFORE REVIVE

rising costs, declining value

Albright's healthcare plan had become unsustainable. To control costs, the college had:

Increased
employee copays and deductibles

Reduced
overall coverage

Considered a spousal
exclusion rule

These changes produced frustration,
not financial relief.

"Our employees were paying more but accessing less. The value of our benefits was eroding, and we knew it wasn't sustainable."

AFTER REVIVE

a human-centered alternative

Through a consortium partner, Albright was introduced to Revive—a virtual-first health platform that offered:

$0 copays for virtual primary, urgent, and mental health care

Free access to 1,000+ maintenance medications

12 annual mental health counseling sessions per employee

Simple onboarding with zero friction for users

Critically, Revive services don't count toward traditional claims, giving the college a powerful lever to reduce healthcare spending without sacrificing care.
